

WHAT IS THE IEWC AIR PROGRAM?

Wire, cable and wire management product inventory replenishment at your fingertips — anytime, anywhere

IEWC's Automated Inventory Replenishment System (AIR) is a web-based wire, cable and wire management product purchasing and inventory management tool. This is the next generation of our existing IEWC Customer Automated Replenishment System (CARS) that uses an Android-based scanning device and platform-independent web site to manage the account. AIR program participants can manage their wire, cable, and wire management product inventories in one of three different ways:

- Regular inventory
- Consignment inventory
- Min/max reorder points

Companies of all sizes can take advantage of this program and tailor it to your particular needs: use the scanner and dashboard, just the dashboard, or just the scanner — the AIR program is flexible enough to meet the needs of small, medium and large companies alike.

24/7 ACCOUNT ACCESS

- Easily reorder material and place new orders
- Track shipments
- Check physical inventory with a simple scan
- Adjust min/max quantities
- Access order history, details, and scan activity
- Export order history to Excel or PDF for analysis
- Scan a barcode onscreen to place an order without running to the plant!
- Print replacement barcodes for AIR inventory parts

WHY ENROLL IN AIR?

The backbone of the IEWC AIR program is the web-based dashboard that allows multiple users to track and place orders, export order history for analysis, reprint inventory barcodes, manage devices and users associated with your AIR ID, and more.

If desired, IEWC will also provide Android devices to manage your physical inventory of wire, cable and wire management products. The cellular-capable scanner with mobile app communicates directly with your account to place on- or offline orders and track inventory on your plant floor or parts cage.

The best part? There is no cost to your organization!

GET STARTED

Upgrade or enroll now

We make it easy! Let your IEWC salesperson know about your interest in enrolling in the AIR program. They will work with you to determine your company's eligibility and coordinate account set up. After your account is created, we will schedule training time to get your company up and running on IEWC AIR.
