Throughout the global events industry, audio, video, and lighting (AVL) technology and usage are constantly evolving. All professional productions, such as outdoor festivals and concert tours, exhibitions and conferences, and traditional theater continue to push the boundaries with increasingly complex technological and performance demands, placing undue stress on electrical and communications components. Ensuring the attendees' experience is positive and memorable is paramount, and doing so requires a high performance, reliable AVL network. IEWC has the brands and solutions to remain one of your partners helping to ensure the show goes on.

More than just your supplier, IEWC is part of Your Team!

For over 50 years, IEWC has worked with our customers to offer complete solutions for their cable, connectivity, and cable management needs. With local expertise and a global network of distribution centers, IEWC provides the personalized service and support you need to pull off a flawless production. Discover the difference it makes when IEWC is on "Your Team."
